

QUICK'S COTTAGE

TROWAN

By repute, this lovely cottage was the scene of a practical joke in the 1890's when miners' children balanced a dead donkey outside the door. A great commotion erupted as the miner left for work and was confronted "by the very devil himself"! Now a beautiful dwelling with distant sea views, Quick's Cottage has a walled garden, two parking spaces and a wealth of exposed granite stonework, timber beams and a wood-burning stove.
